Lost super may soon rollover automatically

The Australian Tax Office's Lost Members Register, has close to 6.1 million accounts with a total balance approaching $10 billion. The Federal Government is currently looking at better ways to reunite people with their lost super.

One option being considered is an automatic rollover system, which would rollover all lost superannuation accounts using Tax File Numbers to match super accounts to people, and then rolling the amount into the last active account.

While these options are being considered, read on to learn how you can take action to make sure you don't become a lost member.

Don't become a lost member

If you think you may have lost super, you can track it down via the ATO website and consolidate it into your PSSap account.

Simply send a completed Transfer form to us to transfer the funds across to the PSSap.

To prevent future issues with your super, here are a few tips:

- > provide us with your Tax File Number
- > keep us informed of your current address
- > if you leave government employment keep us informed of your current details so we can keep in touch.

PSSap goes platinum.... again

The PSSap has again cemented its place as a top super fund by receiving a platinum rating from SuperRatings for the second year in a row.

SuperRatings is an independent agency which researches super funds and rates them against others in the industry.

Over 200 funds were analysed for investments, fees and charges, administration, advice, governance, insurance, and overall benefits to members. The PSSap rated as above average across these areas and was one of only 30 funds to receive a platinum rating.

The PSSap features an award winning member education program and welcome pack for new members and was described by SuperRatings as a “best value for money” fund – well balanced across all key assessment criteria in a robust, secure and proven risk framework, including features that should assist most individuals to meet their retirement savings goals.

Some Tax File Numbers are still outstanding

We need to record your Tax File Number (TFN) so that we can accept any after-tax contributions you may make, and to ensure that your employer and salary sacrifice contributions aren't taxed at the top marginal tax rate.

Check your latest member statement to see if we have your TFN. If you haven't provided your TFN please call us on 1300 725 171.
